

5 Basic Steps of Bible Interpretation

1. Identify the genre of the book you're reading

Is it Old Testament Narrative, Law, Psalms, Wisdom, Prophecy, New Testament Narrative, Epistle, or Revelation? Each of these different genres is written in a different style, with a different purpose, and usually for a different audience, so different sections of Scripture must be interpreted differently. For example, the word-pictures in the Psalms are highly metaphorical, but the instructions in the Epistles are very literal.

2. Determine the "big idea" of the section

Biblical authors weren't just writing stream-of-consciousness. They had major themes in mind for each section of their book. It might not always be immediately clear, but by reading larger chunks of Scripture you can figure out what the main theme is. State the big idea in one sentence, and that will give you a good frame of reference for interpreting a smaller verse or passage.

3. Observe the literary & historical context of the passage

Now you're going down from the big idea of the entire section down to the smaller ideas in the verses surrounding the section you're studying. You can also consult outside sources to see if the culture or history around the story or verse has any bearing on the interpretation. Most of the time, just the literary context will help a lot. You can clear up almost any confusion you have about a passage just by reading the sections before and after it.

4. Meditate on the passage and interpret it

That means first investigating how the original audience would have understood the passage, which will depend on the historical context. You can find out much you need to know about the original audience in many study Bibles, or a good Bible dictionary or encyclopedia. Figure out how the first readers of the book would have interpreted it, then look for ways that the same interpretation can transfer to our lives today.

5. Apply the passage to your life!

What part of your fallenness did God want to address through this passage? Some aspect of your rebellion? Some way you misunderstand God and his character? Some habit of losing faith in God's power and goodness? This is the most important part of the whole process, but it's also the hardest. As Mark Twain said, "It's not the parts of the Bible that I don't understand that disturb me, rather it's the parts of the Bible that I do understand that disturb me." Exactly the way God wanted it to be.

ONE YEAR THROUGH THE BIBLE

HARBORCHURCH

Welcome to Harbor's one year Bible challenge! It's our prayer that each person at Harbor Church would understand the grand narrative of the gospel: God's plan to glorify himself by saving sinful people like us from his deserving judgment, through the grace of Jesus Christ. We need to know God's story so we can know where we fit into it, and the only way to understand it is to see it from beginning to end—from creation in Genesis to final redemption in Revelation.

Over the course of the next year, we'll be reading through the entire Old Testament, and the New Testament and Psalms twice. This is a huge step for people like us who are over-scheduled with activities, over-reliant on zoned-out "me-time," and under-experienced in making big commitments.

There are plenty of dangers that come with a commitment like this:

- Duty. Any kind of disciplined action can quickly turn into a dry, lifeless duty, "having the appearance of godliness, but denying its power" (2 Timothy 3:5). You'll be tempted to start seeing the Bible as a burden, rather than a joy.
- Pride. When you're able to successfully make it through Leviticus and Numbers, you'll feel pretty good about yourself. You'll be tempted to look down on all the slackers who couldn't do it.
- Self-righteousness. Anytime you achieve some spiritual accomplishment, it's easy to think God owes you something for it. You'll be tempted to expect greater reward from God, rather than seeing his reward in what he reveals through your disciplined study of his word.
- Carelessness. When there is so much Scripture to cover each day, you'll be tempted to mindlessly skim over incredibly rich passages. While a superficial understanding of some passages is all you'll be able to get in order to gain a wider vision for God's story, you'll also be tempted to view God's word lightly.

In spite of those dangers, there are also some great advantages, in addition to the main goal of seeing the big picture of the gospel:

- Spending more time in the Word. Many Christians only read a verse or two from Scripture, whenever they remember to do it. Others spend more time each day deciding what to read than actually reading. This commitment makes it easy to just start reading, and keep on reading.
- Seeing the value of all Scripture. Many of us have favorite passages and books that seem to speak most loudly to us, and we have an unspoken belief that other sections of Scripture are less valuable. This commitment will challenge that tendency. "All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work" (2 Tim 3:16-17)

- Having a base for family discussions. Parents can choose one chapter a week to use for family worship times. If your kids are old enough to make the full commitment, daily conversations around the dinner table can include the day's reading.
- Deepening fellowship in the church. Community groups can discuss what they are learning from their studies. Friends can encourage each other with things the Lord has impressed on them from his word.
- Being strengthened for missional conversations. Most believers are hesitant to share their faith because they're afraid about questions they might be asked. After reading the entire Bible, you'll feel much more confident in your ability to answer questions about particular passages or ideas, and how they fit into the overall message of the gospel.

THE PLAN

The reading plan laid out here was first developed a century-and-a-half ago by a Scottish minister, Robert Murray M'Cheyne. If you read through the four passages listed for each date, in a year you will have read through the New Testament and the Psalms twice, and the rest of the Bible once.

If you find this too fast a pace, then read the first two passages listed for each day in the first year, and the last two passages in the second year. You'll then read the entire New Testament and half of the Old.

Theologian and pastor D.A. Carson built on M'Cheyne's foundation by writing short devotionals based on each day's readings. Those devotionals are now published as a daily blog, which you can access here:

thegospelcoalition.org/blogs/loveofgod/

You can subscribe to the daily devotionals by email, if you'd like to automatically receive them in your inbox each morning. This can be an excellent reminder and aid to your own self-discipline.

Our prayer is that you would be encouraged and strengthened over the year ahead. "Open our eyes, that we may behold wondrous things out of your law, oh Lord!" (Psalm 119:18)

For God's glory,
Your elders (Ethan, Justin, and Matt)
